THURSDAY, APRIL 29, 1897.

SINCE the war between Greece and Turkey has opened up, the troubles of Spain and Cuba seem to be lost sight of.

W. J. DeBoe, republican, has been elected senator from Kentucky. This election of a republican will give that party a chance to pass a tariff law.

The war between Greece and Turkey is still raging, with successes favorable to Turkey. The sympathy of the people seems to be with Greece.

L. C. HEADLEY of the Gaylord Herald, has been appointed postmaster at Gaylord. The power of the press seems to be recognized by the republican politicians.

The greatest military pageant in the history of the nation did honor to the memory of General U. S. Grant at New York Tuesday, when the nation dedicated the tomb that now holds his remains. Representatives of foreign nations were present.

The Garden City Inprint says: "For the butter fat from the milk of 12,000 cows the creameries of Dickinson county pay $35,000 per month. This is better than a round house and railroad division. If Finney county will but make the start she can do as well in a few years."

The latest reduction of one-half cent a pound in roasted coffee in New York brings it to 10½ cents a pound, less 2 per cent, or 10¼ cents for cash to wholesale dealers. This is the lowest price ever touched since the trade in packages of the roasted product was instituted, and marks a decline of 5½ cents a pound since October last, when the Havemeyers entered the trade in competition with the Arbucklea. Previous to the present date the lowest price for roasted coffee was in February, 1896, when it sold for 11 cents, when the raw product was quoted at 7½ cents.

The supreme court of Nebraska has handed down a decision denying a new trial to George W. Davis, who was convicted of wrecking, near Lincoln, two years ago, a Rock Island train, whereby eleven persons were killed, and was sent to the penitentiary for life. Five months ago Attorney General Churchill declared the law under which he was convicted unconstitutional. The court overruled the contention of the attorney general. The decision will have an important bearing on numerous damage suits instituted against the Rock Island, as it is claimed the conviction of Davis will relieve the road of the responsibility of the accident.

State Bank Commissioner Breidenbach, besieged by some bankers of the state for permission to borrow money, announces that only in the emergency of heavy withdrawals of deposits will he consent to such transactions, and in no case will he permit the use of collateral to secure such loans. Under the old law banks were in the habit of borrowing money and putting up double negotiable paper or other collateral as security, thus depriving depositors of available assets in the event of failure. Commissioner Breidenbach argues that a bank ought to be able to borrow money on its own credit, and if it cannot it ought to go into liquidation and pay its creditors.

One of Sol Miller's last editorials: "An eastern historian of Kansas recently made the assertion that there were never any slaves in Kansas. He is badly mistaken; and if his history of Kansas is in other particulars no more correct, it is not of much value. There were many slaves in Kansas up to the time of her admission as a state. We know that such was the case in this corner. Judge Byrd, at White Cloud, had a slave boy and a woman, and brought them with him to Charleston when he laid out that town. Giles A. Briggs of White Cloud had three. One was a boy whom he sold before the war, and the others were a woman and a child, whom he kept, and who became free by the admission of the state. John H. Ut had a negro man, who was taken south before war. We believe that X. K. Stout, at Iowa Point, owned a slave, and there were several others in that town. There are men still living in the county who remember seeing a slave woman sold on the auction block in the streets of Iowa Point before the war. A Mr. Quick, a farmer on Wolf river, owned two slaves. They are still living in or near Troy—George and Henry Gatter. Squire Lewis on Wolf river had a slave. We are pretty confident that Cary B. and John H. Whitehead owned slaves, and that there were a number owned in the country from Troy to Wathena. Barney O'Driscoll near Doniphan, had a slave woman, and there are some others in and about Doniphan. In Atchison, Leavenworth and others of the old eastern counties there were no doubt many slaves."

Information About Greece.

It had a population of 2,187,208 at the census of 1890.

It is called "Hellas" by its people. The mean temperature of Greece is 64 degrees Fahrenheit, but it is hot there in summer.

No part of Greece is 40 miles from the sea or ten from the hills.

About one-half of the population are agriculturists and shepherds.

It has area of 25,000 square miles, or less than half that of Illinois, with about the present population of Indiana or less.

The Greek flag is a white cross on a blue ground—the Bavarian colors and the Greek cross.

Greece has few rivers and many hills. None of the former is navigable, and many of the latter are fortified.

Its boundary limits were determined by an arrangement among Great Britain, France, Russia, and Turkey, concluded at Constantinople on July 21, 1832, but the Turks never surrendered all of the territory that treaty calls for by 5,000 square miles and half a million of Greek people.

Only about 70,000 of the inhabitants speak any language other than Greek, and only about 20,000 profess and religion other than the orthodox Greek church.

The chief characteristics of the average Greek are his inquisitiveness, fondness for excitement, love of discussion, desire for knowledge, an aptitude for learning, and aggressive patriotism.

The climate has two striking peculiarities—the heat in summer and the cold in winter are far more intense than those of any other country in the world lying in the same latitude. Gall once remarked that in traveling through the Mores in March he found "summer in Messina, spring in Laconia, and winter in Arcadia, without having moved beyond a radius of 50 miles."

Greece is now engaged in a war struggle with her deadly enemy, who outnumber her more than twelve to one in population.

Changes at the Agricultural College.

In a recent issue of the Capital it was stated that about half of the professors at the Agricultural College had been removed by the new Board of Regents, and that paper proceeded to make a great deal of political capital out of the affair. The facts are that the following persons declined to accept re-election: George H. Failyer, professor of chemistry and mineralogy; Charles C. Georgeason, professor of agriculture; Silas C. Mason, professor of horticulture; Mrs. Nellie Kedzie, professor of household economy and hygiene; J. S. C. Thompson, superintendent of printing. By agreement four other places were passed over until the June meeting. All the others were retained. President Fairchild stated emphatically that he would not accept re-election. The Board elected Thomas E. Will, professor of economic science, to succeed him. Professor Will is an able man, a liberal thinker, and it is believed that he will make an excellent President.

No forced changes were made, all of those retiring having declined to continue their work. The Capital's report was so manifestly unfair and untruthful that H. A. Perkins, president of the State Editorial Association and editor of the Manhattan Nationalist, who was the Capital correspondent at that place, sent in his resignation as the best expression of his indignation at the practices of such newspaper methods. He did not send the dispatch that was used; his report was suppressed and this untruthful one inserted in its place. That the Regents have no intention or desire to conduct the institution on political lines is shown by the fact that Secretary Coburn of the State Board of Agriculture, who is a republican, has been asked to consider the chair of agriculture made vacant by Professor Georgeason. The Regents propose to build up the college by securing the services of the most competent men in the country, irrespective of their political ideas.—Advocate.

Stricken Down.

MR. JOHN BUCHER.
Dunkirk, N. Y.

One of the most Genial and Successful Commercial men on the road

writes Dr. Fenner: "I was stricken down with acute inflammation of kidneys, had been suffering for some time, and was in a critical condition. I secured a bottle of your Kidney and Backache Cure and soon experienced relief. After using two bottles I was entirely cured."

Court Proceedings.

District court is now in session, and is drawing large crowds. The case of the State vs. H. B. Abbott who is charged with statutory rape, is now being heard. The state is represented by R. F. Stinson county attorney, and R. M. Pickler of Smith Center, while the defense is looked after by Lewis & Mahin, and Myers & Reed of Smith Center. In securing a jury the regular panel of twenty-three jurors was exhausted, so that fourteen talemen were brought in from Kirwin and Deer Creek townships. After considerable skirmishing, R. P. Stewart, H. J. Andrews, D. D. Chance, A. A. Hassler, A. Sabellous, W. E. Bedwell, M. Brooks, C. Westbrook, B. F. Haynes, A. M. Cambell, D. S. Worner and Thos. Disbrow were accepted as jurors, and at 10 o'clock, Wednesday morning, the case was opened. About seventy witnesses in all have been subpoenaed, and the prospects are that the case will take up about all the time of the two weeks term.

Other cases have been disposed of as follows: Continued, Shannon vs. Smith, Hubbel vs. Lindsey; settled and dismissed: Powell vs. Hale; Sheeder vs. Cowan et al; McKinley vs. Conn. Judgment for plaintiff: Mortgage Trust Co. vs. Sallee; $1,099; Heaton vs. White, $2,548; Harwood vs. Brown, $884; Everts vs. Phillips, $883; Hull vs. Fawver, $1,250; Powell vs. McKnight, $555; White vs. Parker, $1,390; Kirwin State Bank vs. Moulton, $1,723. Sales confirmed: Ambler vs. Ray; New England Mortgage Security Co. vs. Scott; Luther vs. Neilson; Holmes vs. Lawrence; Butler vs. Post; Lewis vs. Cobberlin; Tarbox vs. Dorsey.

In Tichenor vs. Tichenor, divorce was granted and minor child given to the mother. In Kemble vs. Wood sale was set aside.

Ten of the regular panel confessed to reading newspapers. Of the number eight read the Herald, two the Dispatch. Hey! Royce?

The Creamery Meeting.

Last Saturday the court room was well filled by farmers, business men and ladies who are interested in the erection of a creamery at this place. Mr. Handy called the house to order, and addresses were made by Messrs. Marple, Royce, and Handy. E. Altman told of the work being done in Jewell county, and many persons asked questions touching upon the various points connected with the business. In the morning a party from this county will go to Belleville and look over the plant there, and on Saturday will attend the opening ceremonies of the station at Lebanon. Much has been said and written upon this subject, and many people are willing to join in the work. A meeting is to be held next week at which time the Belleville and Lebanon visitors will tell what they saw.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community.
